PROPOSALS for MATERIALS FOR THE NAVY.

NAVY DEPARTMENT, Bureau of Construction, Equipment, &amp;c.

June 16, 1861.

Sealed Proposals to furnish materials for the Navy for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1862, will be received at this Bureau until 12 o'clock p.m. of the 1st July next. These proposals must be indorsed "Proposals for Materials for the Navy, Bureau of Construction." And that they may be distinguished from other business letters.

The materials and articles embodied in the class names are to be furnished in the quantities and descriptions specified, and to such places as desired, to enter, on application to the Commandants of the respective yards, or to the Navy-Agent nearest thereto, and those of all yards upon application to this Bureau. Proposals are also to be made for the delivery of dealers in each yard, such parts with which materials are usually required for bids. The Commandant and Navy-Agent of each yard will have a copy of the schedules of the other yards, for examination only, from which it may be judged whether the bid is reasonable.

One-half may be made for the whole of the class of any yard upon one of the printed schedules, or in strict conformity therewith, or they will not be considered.

The contract will be awarded to the lowest bona fide bidder who will give proper security for its fulfillment. The United States reserves the right to reject all bids for any article.

All articles of the very best quality, to be delivered in good condition, and with vessels and packages, as the case may be, at the expense of the risk of loss or damage, will be subject to inspection, measurement, count, weight, &c., of the yard where received, and to the entire satisfaction of the commanding officer.

Bidders are referred to the recommendations of the respective yards for samples of the articles to be furnished, which said samples are to be delivered at the office of the Secretary of State, at the Capitol on, or before the 15th day of October next, without claim for freight, boxes, or anything extra ever incurred.
